BOARD OF DIRECTORS, OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES GOVERNANCE POLICY

International Beauty Professionals Association, Inc.

Edition	Revised edition (supersedes all prior versions)
Effective date	November 11, 2026
Approved by	Board of Directors of International Beauty Professionals Association, Inc., Resolution No. 2026-01 dated November 11, 2026

1. Purpose

This Board of Directors, Officers and Committees Governance Policy (the "Policy") establishes the governance framework, leadership roles, structure of authority, responsibilities, lines of accountability and operational expectations applicable to the Board of Directors, officers and committees of International Beauty Professionals Association, Inc. (the "Association" or "IBPA").

This Policy is intended to:

(a) provide detailed rules on the governance and leadership structure of the Association;

(b) clarify the respective roles, authority, responsibilities and limitations of the Board of Directors, officers and committees;

(c) support lawful, transparent, ethical and effective governance;

(d) protect the mission, integrity and reputation of the Association;

(e) reduce ambiguity in internal decision-making and administration; and

(f) supplement the Association's Bylaws and other governing documents.

This Policy must be read together with the Bylaws, the Governance Policy, the Committee Charters, the Code of Ethics, the Conflict of Interest Policy, the Professional Standards, the Membership Policy, the Membership Application Review Procedure, the Membership Review Policy and other duly adopted policies.

2. Governance Structure

The governance structure of the Association consists of:

(a) the Board of Directors, which is the governing body of the Association;

(b) officers, who are appointed by and accountable to the Board of Directors; and

(c) committees, boards, working groups, advisory groups or other structures that may be established by the Board of Directors.

Authority within the Association derives from the Board of Directors. Officers, committees and other internal bodies exercise only the authority granted to them by the Bylaws, this Policy, a Board decision or other governing documents.

No officer, committee or internal body may act beyond the authority granted to it by the Board of Directors or the Association's governing documents.

3. Role of the Board of Directors

The Board of Directors is the highest governing body of the Association and is responsible for overall governance, strategic oversight, institutional integrity and the safeguarding of the Association's mission, assets and reputation.

The Board of Directors is responsible, among other things, for:

(a) defining and protecting the mission, values and strategic direction of the Association;

(b) approving and overseeing key policies, standards and governance documents;

(c) ensuring that the Association operates lawfully, ethically, in a financially responsible manner and in accordance with its mission;

(d) appointing, overseeing and, where necessary, removing officers;

(e) creating, overseeing and dissolving committees and other bodies;

(f) overseeing the integrity of the Association's membership processes, standards, awards, public reputation and key initiatives;

(g) approving the annual or periodic budget, significant financial commitments and key strategic initiatives;

(h) monitoring organizational risks, governance quality and compliance;

(i) ensuring that the Association is not used for improper private benefit; and

(j) exercising other lawful powers of the Association's governing body.

The Board of Directors is not required to perform all administrative functions itself, but retains ultimate responsibility for governance and oversight even when operational tasks are delegated.

4. Composition and Qualifications of Directors

The number of directors, their qualifications, the procedure for election and removal and their terms of office are governed by the Bylaws (Article 7). A director's term is two (2) years; a director may serve no more than three (3) consecutive terms.

In addition to the requirements of the Bylaws, each director is expected to:

(a) have a professional reputation, maturity and sound judgment;

(b) support the mission and values of the Association;

(c) be able to act independently and in the best interests of the Association;

(d) avoid conduct materially inconsistent with the reputation, integrity or standards of the Association;

(e) comply with requirements on conflict-of-interest disclosure, confidentiality and governance procedures; and

(f) be willing to devote sufficient time and attention to a director's duties.

The Board may establish additional qualifications for directors where appropriate and consistent with the Bylaws.

5. Fiduciary Duties of Directors

Each director owes fiduciary duties to the Association and must perform them in good faith, in the best interests of the Association and with the care that an ordinarily prudent person would exercise in a similar position.

These duties include, without limitation:

5.1 Duty of Care

Each director must exercise reasonable inquiry, review relevant information, prepare for meetings and participate thoughtfully in governance decisions.

5.2 Duty of Loyalty

Each director must place the interests of the Association above personal, business, family, competitive or other private interests when exercising his or her authority.

5.3 Duty of Obedience

Each director must promote compliance with the Association's mission, Bylaws, governing documents, applicable law and policies.

5.4 Duty of Confidentiality

Each director must keep confidential the Association's non-public information, governance matters, membership reviews, committee deliberations, disciplinary matters and other sensitive matters.

6. Director Responsibilities and Expectations

Each director is expected to:

(a) attend Board meetings regularly and participate meaningfully in governance;

(b) review agendas, materials and proposals in advance where reasonably possible;

(c) exercise independent judgment and not approve decisions as a formality without review;

(d) disclose conflicts of interest promptly and fully;

(e) respect the principle of collective decision-making by the Board;

(f) once a decision is made, support its implementation unless a lawful dissent procedure applies;

(g) refrain from unauthorized unilateral commitments on behalf of the Association;

(h) act respectfully toward other directors, officers, committee members, members of the Association and stakeholders;

(i) protect the mission, reputation and institutional interests of the Association; and

(j) observe the standards of conduct set out in the Code of Ethics and other policies.

Directors serve the Association in a governance capacity and must not use their roles primarily for personal promotion, competitive advantage, private financial benefit or improper influence.

Before taking part in the first vote, each newly elected director signs the Board Member Agreement, the Conflict of Interest Disclosure Statement and the Acknowledgment of Governing Documents.

7. Board Members with Designated Functions

In addition to the officers, the Board may include Board Members with designated functions. Each of them is a full director with voting rights at Board meetings. The designated functions are set out in the election resolution and the Board Member Agreement.

7.1 Board Member, Membership Selection & Quality Control

(a) serves on the Membership Review Board;

(b) personally reviews every membership application and votes with a brief rationale within the timelines set by the Membership Review Policy;

(c) signs the minutes of the decision on each application;

(d) takes part in overseeing members' compliance with the Professional Standards and the Code of Ethics;

(e) promotes the Association in the professional community and on social media.

7.2 Board Member, Legal Affairs

(a) reviews and provides opinions on the Association's governing documents, policies, contracts and forms;

(b) provides an opinion on procedural compliance when appeals are considered;

(c) delivers opinions within 7 business days, or within 2–3 business days for urgent matters;

(d) does not review or vote on membership applications.

7.3 Board Member, Financial Affairs

(a) oversees the Association's financial reporting together with the Treasurer;

(b) reviews and provides opinions on budgets, financial reports and significant financial commitments;

(c) delivers opinions within 7 business days, or within 2–3 business days for urgent matters;

(d) does not review or vote on membership applications.

Service on the Board of Directors is voluntary and unpaid. Responsibility for financial records and reporting within the meaning of the Bylaws (Section 8.6) remains with the Treasurer.

8. Powers Reserved to the Board of Directors

Unless expressly permitted otherwise by the Bylaws or applicable law, the following matters are reserved to the Board of Directors:

(a) amendments to the Bylaws and key governance policies;

(b) appointment and removal of officers;

(c) creation, restructuring and dissolution of committees;

(d) approval of annual budgets and significant financial commitments;

(e) approval of material contracts, transactions, partnerships or structural commitments, at the Board's discretion;

(f) approval of strategic plans and major public initiatives;

(g) approval of changes to the governance structure, including proposals affecting the leadership structure;

(h) final consideration of material disciplinary or governance matters where reserved to the Board by the Bylaws or policies; and

(i) all other material matters of governance, oversight and institutional direction.

Officers and committees may not assume powers reserved to the Board unless expressly delegated by the Board.

9. Board Meetings and Attendance

Board meetings are held in accordance with the Bylaws (Article 10) and any meeting procedures adopted by the Association.

In addition to the Bylaws, the following expectations apply:

(a) directors must attend meetings consistently unless excused for good reason;

(b) repeated unexcused absence may be considered in evaluating continued service;

(c) meetings may be held in person, by video, by telephone or by other lawful communications technology;

(d) directors participating remotely are deemed present if their participation meets the requirements of the law and the Bylaws; and

(e) deliberations must be respectful, orderly and in the interests of the Association.

The Board may adopt additional meeting rules, attendance expectations and consent procedures.

10. Presiding Officer

Unless otherwise provided by the Bylaws or a Board decision, the President presides at Board meetings.

The presiding officer is responsible for:

(a) calling the meeting to order;

(b) maintaining an orderly and fair process;

(c) ensuring that agenda items are properly considered;

(d) acknowledging conflict-of-interest disclosures;

(e) facilitating discussion without suppressing lawful dissent; and

(f) helping to ensure a proper decision-making process.

The role of presiding officer does not confer any unilateral right to disregard Board decisions.

11. Officers of the Association

The officers of the Association are the President, the Vice President, the Secretary and the Treasurer (Article 8 of the Bylaws). The Board may create additional positions. Officers are appointed by the Board for a term of one (1) year.

Each officer:

(a) acts within the authority granted by the Board of Directors;

(b) has only the authority derived from the Bylaws, this Policy, a Board decision, an approved position description or other governing documents;

(c) must act in accordance with the mission, Bylaws, budget and policies of the Association; and

(d) is accountable to the Board of Directors.

Officers have no independent governance authority separate from the Board except within expressly delegated authority.

12. President

The President is the senior officer of the Association for purposes of leadership and coordination and acts subject to the authority of the Board of Directors.

Unless limited by the Bylaws, Board decisions, budget limits or applicable policies, the President:

(a) provides general leadership and coordination of the Association;

(b) supports the implementation of the strategic direction and decisions approved by the Board;

(c) represents the Association in the public, professional and organizational arena;

(d) presides at Board meetings unless another arrangement is approved;

(e) coordinates the work of officers and committee chairs in implementing priorities approved by the Board;

(f) monitors the implementation of major initiatives and reports to the Board on material matters;

(g) signs contracts, letters, certificates and other official documents within approved authority;

(h) helps ensure that the Association's activities remain consistent with its mission, standards and applicable law;

(i) oversees or coordinates day-to-day executive matters to the extent determined by the Board; and

(j) performs other duties assigned by the Board.

The President may not:

(a) make material financial, legal or structural commitments on behalf of the Association beyond approved authority;

(b) disregard Board decisions;

(c) unilaterally establish governance policies;

(d) appoint or remove directors; or

(e) act outside the limits of delegated authority.

If there is uncertainty about the President's authority, the matter is referred to the Board.

13. Vice President

The Vice President is the senior supporting officer of the Association and ensures continuity of leadership.

The Vice President:

(a) assists the President in leadership and the implementation of decisions;

(b) acts in place of the President during his or her absence, unavailability or temporary inability to act, within the authority granted;

(c) oversees programs, initiatives, areas or committees assigned by the Board or the President;

(d) supports continuity of operations and governance; and

(e) performs other duties assigned by the Board.

When acting in place of the President, the Vice President is subject to the same limitations as the President unless the Board determines otherwise.

14. Secretary

The Secretary is the Association's principal officer for official governance records.

The Secretary:

(a) keeps or ensures the keeping of accurate minutes of Board meetings and other meetings as required;

(b) ensures that the Association's official governance records are maintained;

(c) keeps or oversees the register of members, the register of Board resolutions, committee records and the archive of the Association's official documents;

(d) ensures that notices of meetings are given in accordance with the Bylaws and applicable policies;

(e) keeps the current versions of the Bylaws, amendments, key policies and other governing documents;

(f) records disclosed conflicts of interest and keeps signed Conflict of Interest Disclosure Statements;

(g) supports compliance with corporate formalities and governance procedures; and

(h) performs other duties assigned by the Board.

The Secretary may rely on staff, contractors or an administrator where authorized, but remains responsible for proper oversight of the official record-keeping function.

15. Treasurer

The Treasurer is the Association's principal officer for financial oversight, subject to the authority of the Board and any engaged financial professionals.

The Treasurer:

(a) oversees the integrity of financial records and reporting;

(b) supports the preparation, review and presentation of the budget;

(c) monitors cash flow, the main categories of revenue and expenditure and compliance with financial controls;

(d) promptly reports material financial risks and issues to the Board;

(e) helps ensure that financial documentation, reimbursement requests and other records are properly maintained;

(f) where necessary, coordinates with accountants, tax professionals and other advisers, and with the Board Member, Financial Affairs;

(g) supports compliance with the approved budget, financial policies and Board directions; and

(h) performs other duties assigned by the Board.

The Treasurer's role is one of oversight and stewardship. The Treasurer has no unilateral right to spend the Association's funds, make financial commitments on its behalf or approve payments affecting his or her personal interest without a proper Board process.

16. Additional Officers

The Board of Directors may create additional officer positions where reasonably necessary for the effective governance of the Association.

For each additional position, the Board determines:

(a) the title;

(b) the scope of duties;

(c) the reporting line;

(d) the limits of authority; and

(e) the term, if applicable.

17. Appointment, Evaluation and Removal of Officers

Officers are appointed and removed in accordance with the Bylaws.

In addition, the Board may:

(a) approve written role descriptions for each position;

(b) periodically evaluate the performance of officers;

(c) require reports, updates and performance benchmarks;

(d) limit, change or clarify the scope of delegated authority; and

(e) remove or replace an officer where in the best interests of the Association.

An officer may be removed on grounds including, without limitation:

(a) failure to perform duties;

(b) repeated non-compliance with governance requirements;

(c) violation of the Bylaws, the Code of Ethics or other policies;

(d) a conflict of interest;

(e) misconduct, dishonesty or reputational harm; or

(f) other grounds that the Board considers material to the interests of the Association.

18. Committees: General Principles

Committees are instruments of governance and administration created to assist the Association in performing specific functions.

All committees:

(a) exist under the authority of the Board of Directors;

(b) act within a defined scope approved by the Board;

(c) report to the Board as established;

(d) act in accordance with the governing documents and policies of the Association; and

(e) remain subject to oversight, revision and dissolution by the Board.

No committee has independent authority. A committee may not bind the Association, change governance rules or take actions reserved to the Board unless expressly authorized. Detailed provisions are set out in the Committee Charters.

19. Creation and Structure of Committees

The Board may establish standing committees, temporary committees, working groups, advisory bodies, panels or task forces.

For each committee or comparable body, the Board may determine:

(a) its purpose and scope;

(b) its authority and limitations;

(c) qualifications;

(d) the number of members;

(e) whether it has a chair or co-chairs;

(f) the appointment procedure;

(g) its duration or term of service;

(h) its reporting procedure; and

(i) requirements on confidentiality, conflict disclosure or conduct.

Committee members may include directors, officers, members of the Association, subject-matter experts, advisers or other persons whom the Board considers suitable.

20. Membership Review Board

The Membership Review Board is a specialized body responsible for selective admission to membership. It consists of all Board Members, Membership Selection & Quality Control, and any other Directors appointed to it by resolution of the Board.

Its responsibilities include:

(a) reviewing membership applications in accordance with the Membership Application Review Procedure and the Membership Review Policy;

(b) evaluating applicants against established criteria;

(c) requesting additional information where necessary;

(d) making decisions of Approved, Pending Additional Information, Deferred or Denied;

(e) maintaining the confidentiality of applicant information; and

(f) preventing conflicts of interest in review decisions.

The Membership Review Board acts collectively and impartially. Its members may not take part in reviewing an applicant with respect to whom a conflict of interest exists or is reasonably perceived.

21. Standards & Ethics Committee

If established, the Standards & Ethics Committee assists the Association with:

(a) interpreting and applying the Professional Standards;

(b) ethical concerns;

(c) reviewing conduct-related complaints;

(d) preparing recommendations on standards-related compliance; and

(e) other duties assigned by the Board.

The Committee may review matters and prepare recommendations, but the final decision remains with the Board where required by the Bylaws or other governing documents.

22. Awards & Recognition Committee

If established, the Awards & Recognition Committee supports:

(a) the development of recognition criteria;

(b) nomination procedures;

(c) eligibility checks;

(d) the administration of fair and transparent recognition processes; and

(e) conflict safeguards in award matters.

Committee members must disclose conflicts of interest and recuse themselves where necessary.

23. Education Committee

If established, the Education Committee assists with:

(a) developing educational programs;

(b) building professional development resources;

(c) webinar, course and resource initiatives;

(d) recommendations on speakers and content; and

(e) other education-related functions assigned by the Board.

24. Events Committee

If established, the Events Committee assists with:

(a) planning and coordinating events;

(b) logistics and program structure;

(c) developing event participation rules;

(d) coordination with speakers, moderators and event partners; and

(e) other event-related matters assigned by the Board.

25. Media & Publications Committee

If established, the Media & Publications Committee supports:

(a) publications and editorial initiatives;

(b) communications planning;

(c) media projects;

(d) the development of content representing the Association externally; and

(e) standards of publication quality and brand consistency.

26. Partnerships Committee

If established, the Partnerships Committee helps the Association:

(a) identify and build appropriate strategic relationships;

(b) assess potential sponsors, collaborators and partners;

(c) support partnership initiatives consistent with the Association's mission; and

(d) prepare recommendations to the Board on partnership opportunities.

No partnership is considered approved without approval under the Board's governance and financial procedures.

27. Nominating and Governance Committee

If established, the Nominating and Governance Committee:

(a) selects candidates for the Board of Directors using questionnaires, interviews and evaluation forms;

(b) prepares minutes with a recommendation for each candidate;

(c) submits written recommendations to the Board for election; and

(d) oversees the signing by elected directors of the documents listed in Section 6.

Directors are elected only by the Board of Directors.

28. Committee Chairs

Each committee may have a chair or co-chairs designated by the Board.

The committee chair is responsible for:

(a) organizing meetings and workflow;

(b) ensuring that the committee acts within its approved scope;

(c) reporting to the Board or the supervising Officer;

(d) managing conflict-of-interest, participation and procedural matters within the committee; and

(e) promoting effective and responsible committee work.

A committee chair has no broader authority than that granted by the Board.

29. Reporting and Accountability

All officers and committees are accountable to the Board of Directors.

The Board may require:

(a) written reports;

(b) oral updates;

(c) meeting summaries;

(d) budget requests;

(e) records of decisions;

(f) documentation of conflicts or recusals; and

(g) other accountability measures reasonably necessary to the Board.

If an officer or committee fails to report properly, exceeds its authority or violates a policy, the Board may take corrective action, limit authority, change the composition of the body or terminate it.

30. Confidentiality and Internal Integrity

Directors, officers and committee members must maintain appropriate confidentiality with respect to:

(a) non-public governance matters;

(b) membership reviews;

(c) disciplinary matters;

(d) sensitive financial or legal information;

(e) internal deliberations; and

(f) any other information that the Association reasonably considers confidential.

The duty of confidentiality continues after service ends to the extent appropriate.

31. Conflict of Interest

All directors, officers and committee members are subject to the Association's Conflict of Interest Policy.

Any person serving in a governance, review, judging, awards or leadership role must promptly disclose actual, potential or perceived conflicts and comply with recusal requirements.

Failure to disclose a conflict may in itself constitute a governance violation.

32. Removal, Resignation and Vacancies

Removal, resignation and the filling of vacancies are carried out in accordance with the Bylaws and the authority of the Board.

In addition, the Board may take action if a director, officer or committee member:

(a) no longer meets the requirements;

(b) repeatedly fails to perform his or her duties, including voting deadlines on membership applications;

(c) breaches confidentiality;

(d) violates ethics, standards or conflict rules;

(e) acts beyond approved authority; or

(f) materially harms the interests of the Association.

The Board may fill vacancies, appoint interim replacements or temporarily reassign duties to ensure continuity.

33. Relationship to Other Governing Documents

This Policy applies together with:

- the Bylaws;
- the Governance Policy;
- the Committee Charters;
- the Code of Ethics;
- the Professional Standards;
- the Conflict of Interest Policy;
- the Membership Policy;
- the Membership Application Review Procedure and the Membership Review Policy;
- the Board Member Agreement; and
- all other duly adopted policies of the Association.

If there is a conflict between this Policy and the Bylaws, the Bylaws prevail unless otherwise required by law.

34. Amendments

This Policy may be amended by the Board of Directors at any duly noticed meeting or by other lawful Board action.

Amendments take effect on the date specified in the approving action unless otherwise provided.

35. Official Language

The official version of this Policy is maintained in English. Any translation is provided for convenience only. In the event of any discrepancy, the English version prevails.
